| Notes from Users | A text reminder in addition to the email would be helpful! | Having another chance to order after growers harvest would give me the chance to access some of the surprise inventory they didn't know they would have when they initially filled out the spreadsheet. | I love harvesting knowing what has already sold, but I usually find more things I can sell at the market around this time. | I stay up late to be the first to jump on the pre-order sheet. It's difficult to input inventory Wednesday night. I'd prefer to move the deadline to Thursday. | Sometimes I change my order today if I forgot something while ordering last night. |     |     |
